

The DFG-funded Collaborative Research Center (CRC) ›Production of Migration‹ (SFB 1604) examines the conditions and functions of the social production and negotiation of migration across disciplines. The aim of SFB 1604 is to establish reflexive migration research as an approach to the study of society. The CRC is located at Osnabrück University (Germany) – a university with diverse research activities that attract students and scientists from all over the world to a city with a high quality of life.

Project ›A1 – The Production of the ›Others‹: (De-)Thematizing Migration-Related Difference‹ is seeking to appoint

2 Doctoral Researchers (m/f/d)
(Salary level E 13 TV-L, 75%)

The positions begin on April 1, 2024 and end on December 31, 2027.

Tasks:

- Planning, implementation and evaluation of several project studies (correlative studies and experiments) as the basis for obtaining a PhD degree
- Working on publications
- Active participation in the CRC's Integrated Research Training Group
- On-site participation in the events and activities of the CRC in Osnabrück

Requirements:

- Very good university degree in Psychology (MA or equivalent)
- Strong research interest in the psychology of racism and migration
- Proficiency in statistical analysis programs for quantitative data (e.g., SPSS, Mplus or R)
- Advanced German and excellent English language skills

Desirable Qualifications:

- Experience in conducting experiments
- Experience in programming online studies
- Experience in interdisciplinary and international cooperation

We offer:

- Participation in an exciting and highly relevant research project
- A structured PhD programme at Osnabrück University (i.e. the CRC's Integrated Research Training Group)
- Opportunities to gain relevant research and teaching experience
- A cooperative working environment in an interdisciplinary, international and diversity-orientated team that is committed to fostering equal opportunities
- Additional training opportunities according to needs

Osnabrück University is a family-friendly university and is committed to helping working/studying parents balance their family and working lives.

Osnabrück University seeks to guarantee equality of opportunity for women and men and strives to achieve gender balance in its departments.

If two candidates are equally qualified, preference will be given to the candidate with disability status.

The CRC is committed to a greater diversity in highly skilled employment. It explicitly welcomes applications from people with a personal or family history of migration.

Please submit your application in electronic form. Applications include a max. two-page motivation letter for the advertised position, a CV (with a list of publications if applicable), certificates of university degrees (BA/MA, including transcripts of records) and the name and e-mail address of one academic reference. Please send your application in a single PDF-file to sfb1604@uni-osnabrueck.de no later than January 10, 2024.

Information on this project and the Collaborative Research Center can be found at: www.producingmigration.org.

Should you require further information regarding this vacancy, please do not hesitate to contact the project leader, Prof. Dr. Julia Becker (julia.becker@uni-osnabrueck.de).

Information on data protection can be found at: www.uni-osnabrueck.de/stellenangebote.